MACHINE GUNS
GUARD PRISON
AT SPRINGFIELDDaylight Finds City Serene
After Night of Race
Disorders.Troops Promptly Restore
Order By Keeping
Crowds on Move.

Springfield, Ohio, March 12.—Springfield was quiet this morning, following a night of disorder in which Patrolman Joseph Ryan and a negro were wounded in interchange of shots between policemen and negroes.

Three companies of Ohio National Guardsmen, consisting of 150 officers and men under command of Lieutenant Colonel H. D. Horner, were ordered today, with headquarters at the City Hall. Military law has not been declared, it having been announced that the troops would merely aid the local authorities in maintaining order.

The entire Fourth Ohio infantry was mobilized today in anticipation of further rioting here, but Colonel Horner said he did not think it necessary to call for the other units at this time. Although the situation was quiet early today and no further trouble seemed imminent, both military and civil authorities said they would not relax their vigilance and are taking all precautions to avoid a recurrence tonight of the racial trouble.

Machine guns are mounted at the county jail, and although the militiamen are not patrolling the streets, they are under arms and ready to answer riot calls. A truck with a machine gun mounted on it is available to make hurried trips. The trouble, which started shortly before midnight, last night with the shooting of Patrolman Ryan, after he had ordered a group of negroes to disperse, was the outgrowth of an assault last Monday night on 11-year-old Marge Ferneau, by an unknown negro who escaped. Rumors that he had been arrested caused a crowd to gather at the county jail Wednesday night and again Thursday night, but these crowds were dispersed without incident. Marge had not been caught. Crowds gathered again last night, but had been dispersed when the shooting began.

Among the city's 60,000 population, approximately one eighth of whom are negroes, racial feeling is still strong and although no further trouble is anticipated, authorities point out that conditions are such that anything may occur.

The National guards on duty here are Company C, Fourth Ohio, from London and two separate machine gun companies with headquarters in this city. The Marysville infantry company is enroute here. Last night's rioting apparently came in three phases. The opening conflict between officers and negroes came when Patrolman Ryan, was shot three times after he had attempted to break up a crowd of negroes at Center and Jefferson streets, which was a block east of the police station. Ryan is expected to recover. Later there was another brush in which Shirley Shafer, a negro, received a slight scalp wound and later a general pitched battle in which 20 or more shots were fired between negroes and officers, the negroes dodging behind trees and buildings and the officers barricading themselves behind a curbing.

While attempting to pursue negroes to return to their homes, a desire from violence, City Manager Edgar E. Parsons, Mayor B. J. Westcott and Police Prosecutor Robert Flack were fired upon but none of them was wounded.

Between 20 and 30 arrests were made during the night, including that of one negro thought to have been the assailant of Patrolman Ryan. Police however, would not confirm his identity nor say whether he had been taken into custody. Most of the remaining prisoners were held on charges of disorderly conduct and investigation. Among those held was Asa Smith, a white man who police say, was found just outside the quarter where the shooting occurred with dynamite on his person.

Places of business closed last night when large crowds gathered on downtown streets and trouble seemed imminent, were opened for business again today. Mayor Westcott, however, was expected to issue an order during the day providing for the closing of all (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

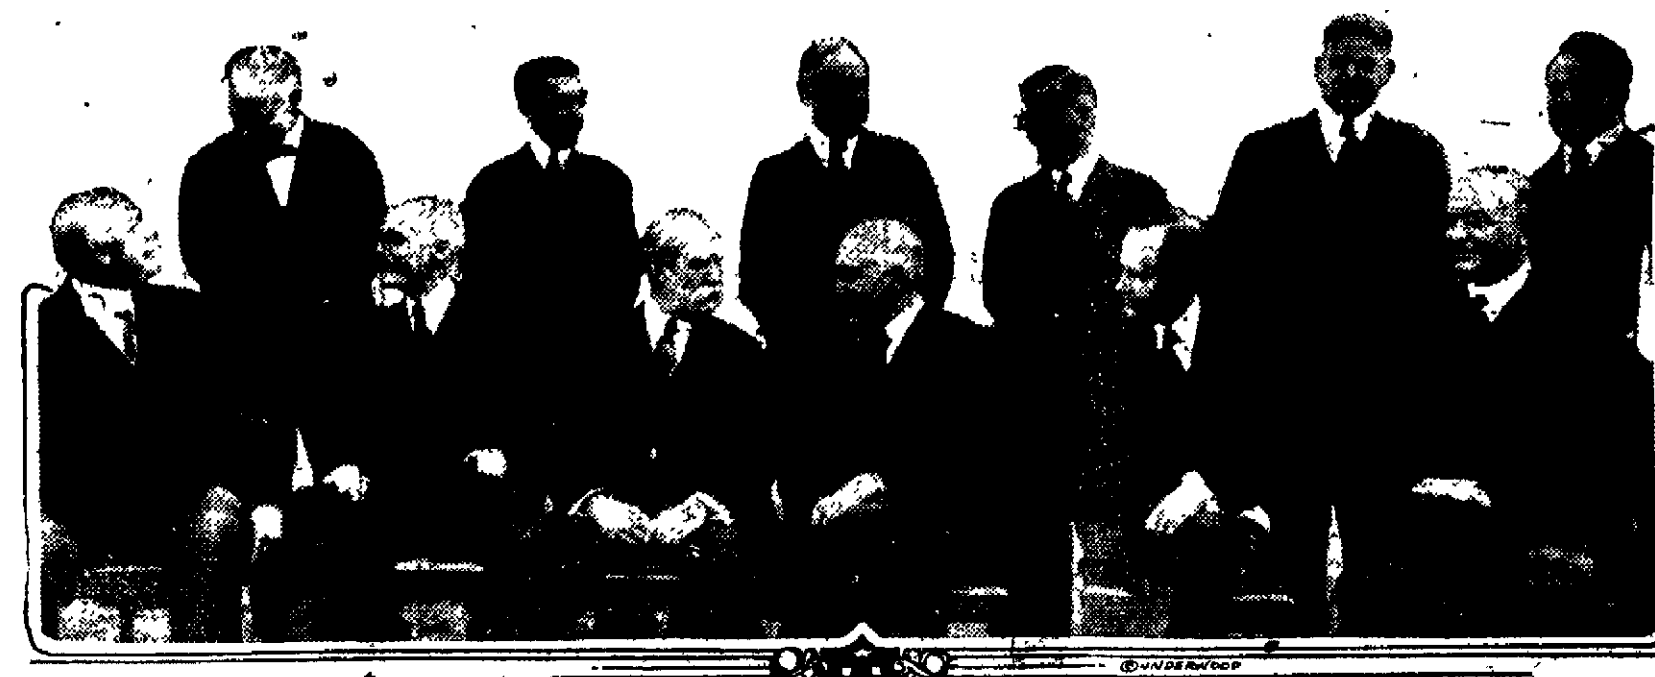

LABOR BUREAU
MAY MEDIATE

New Secretary at Washington Offers to Act as Mediator Between Packers and Employees.

Washington, March 12.—Whether the department of labor would attempt to settle the wage reduction controversy between the meat packing companies and their employees depended today on acceptance of Secretary Davis' offer of mediation by the packers. Conditional acceptance on behalf of union workers was announced last night at Chicago by Dennis Lane, secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated meat cutters and butchers workmen of North America. After receiving Secretary Davis' telegram proposing mediation by the labor department, Mr. Lane was reported to have stated the union would agree on condition that the packers would enforce enforcement of the proposed wage reduction and adjustment of hours effective Monday. On this condition, the union, he said, also would defer taking a strike ballot.

Secretary Davis' offer of mediation was telegraphed to the union and the packing firms with the full sanction and approval of President Harding following discussion of the threatened strike at yesterday's cabinet meeting and a later conference on the subject between the secretary and the President.

CABINET MEMBERS AREN'T ALWAYS SERIOUS, YOU'LL AGREE

Most of the photos of President Harding's cabinet members, individually and collectively, show them in pretty serious moods. But there are moments when they lay aside their reserve, as the photo above shows. They are making the best of the delay while a full army of photographers and movie operators "get set" to photograph Harding and his official family at their first session. President Harding, carrying out his announced plan, has asked Vice President Coolidge to attend.

FOSTER UNABLE TO GIVE BOND

One of Bondsmen Ill and His Appearance Here Is Delayed—May Get Released Late Saturday.

Ray B. Foster, Columbus electrician, who was held to the grand jury on the manslaughter charge of killing Opal Sowards at Buckeye Lake the first of the week, at the hearing in Hebron before Mayor White yesterday, has so far failed to furnish the $5000 bond and is still in custody at the county jail.

Mrs. Foster came to Newark after going to Columbus following the hearing and she stated that one of the bondsmen arranged for a sick. He is expected to arrive here shortly after noon today and sign the bond to release Foster. One of the bondsmen, Clarence L. Rauch, signed in Hebron yesterday following the hearing. While Mrs. Foster was here last night she told the officials of a game which had been worked on her Thursday by an unknown man in Columbus. She stated that a man came to the house and stayed at the club, and that he mistreated during the stay at the jail here and he asked her for money with which to buy him some of the little luxuries so desired by prisoners. She believed the story until after she talked to her husband yesterday and he related the true state of affairs. Mr. Foster has none but kindest words for his treatment at the hands of Sheriff Bryan and his deputies. Mrs. Foster told that she gave the man $12.

In Columbus last night Allen O. Maxwell, the contractor referred to in the testimony brought out at the hearing yesterday at Hebron, stated that Foster had hired him to make repairs on his boat. Maxwell's story is that Foster called for him and the painter about 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon and with the girl, went to the lake. Maxwell and the painter immediately went to work on the boat, which was at the yacht club, and Foster and the girl went toward the cottages. After half an hour it was found that it was so damp that the paint would not work, so they also went to the cottages.

When they arrived, Foster and the girl were in his cottage gathering up some bed clothing to take to the one in which she was to stay. The two men helped carry the bedding to the cottage where the girl immediately began making up a bed.

Foster showed the two men his cottages and after about an hour all three came back to Columbus, arriving there about 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Foster corroborated this testimony stating that Mr. Foster arrived home Sunday about 8 o'clock and remained there until Monday morning.

According to investigation Wednesday Foster called for Mrs. Lind at the Buckeye Hotel at 10 o'clock Monday morning and took her to the lake. They arrived there about 1:30 when Foster discovered the dead body of the girl.

During the testimony of Lind, the step father of the girl, it was developed at the hearing yesterday said that a man named Lee Cunningham of West Third Avenue, Columbus, had paid the girl's tuition at the Office Training School and Attorney Connor insinuated that Cunningham had associated with the girl.

Cunningham admitted the payment in an interview last night, saying it was with the full consent of his wife and Mrs. Lind and was the result of long acquaintance with the family. He denied anything but fatherly interest in the girl.

On cross-examination yesterday Coroner Richards stated that Mr. and Mrs. Lind, mother and step father of Opal Sowards, and Foster and his wife came to his home in Newark, Monday night at 11 o'clock, and told him the story of the girl.

Richards also admitted that there was extreme heat in the room where the girl had died, and that heat produced

FIRE BURNS SILK
WORTH MILLIONS

Warehouses at Shanghai Are Destroyed and Others Burning—Loss May Reach 10 Million.

Shanghai, March 11.—Silver silk warehouses, containing over half of the amount of silk available for export in this city, were burned here today, the loss being estimated at $6,000,000. Seven other warehouses took fire and are still burning. Should their loss be complete, the damage will reach $10,000,000, it is estimated. The destruction of silk cocoons stored in the warehouses will enforce the closing of most of the spinning establishments here until the next crop in May. Cancellation of many contracts for silk is considered inevitable.

RAIN SPOILS
GOOD MARKET

Dealers Were Well Stocked With Nice Line of New Vegetables and Expected Good Day's Business.

Wholesale dealers stated this morning that business continues to be draggy and slow. Shipments of vegetables from the south, radishes, carrots, green onions, mangos, beets, spinach, etc., are arriving in good condition and the supply is ample.

The potato market is stronger and the price will be $2.65 for 150 pounds by Monday. Bananas are scarce and remain at $3.50 per 100 pounds. Apples advancing every day. During the past week they moved up from $3.50 a barrel to $6.

The retail dealers in market were disappointed this morning when the rain began, as they had an extra fine supply of produce and plenty of stock on hand. California asparagus was one of the new products, and sold for 20 cents a bunch. New imported figs were selling fast at 30 cents a pound. New cabbage is 5 cents per pound and old cabbage is higher at 4 cents a pound. Specials in the market today are 10 cents straight for 25 cents, those that have been selling for two for 25 cents, were 10 cents each and the 10 cents straight size were three for 25 cents today. Ananas offered a special in good sized oranges at 30 cents a dozen. Lemons are five for a dime.

Leaf lettuce remains at 25 cents a pound. Radishes were selling in quantities today for 10 cents a basket. Tomato prices dropped at 30 to 35 cents a pound. Cucumbers are 10, 15 and 20 cents each. Strawberries remain at 75 cents a quart.

PLANNED TRIP

Prosecution Offers Testimony to Show That She Prepared Auto For Long Trip Day Before Shooting.

Ardmore, Okla., March 12.—Testimony that Clara Hamon, on trial for the alleged murder of Jake L. Hamon, came to his garage the day before Hamon was shot and ordered two extra casings placed on her automobile saying that she was "going to take a long trip" was offered today by Harry Foster, a garage employee.

Foster, the first witness called by the state today also said that he had seen Clara Hamon with a pistol a number of times and that the morning following Hamon's shooting, Clara came to the garage and asked that the arrangement be made quickly as she had far to go.

The witness said the young woman was very nervous. He saw no bruises on her face or hands, he testified. It was agreed by counsel that the arrangement of court should be curtailed to one hour.

Toppa was taken to the city prison where he will be held pending investigation of the alcoholic content of the beer. According to the police he probably be released on bond this afternoon.

SPRINGFIELD SHERIFF
PLACED IN COMPLETE
CHARGE OF SITUATIONPUBLIC GATHERING PROHIBITED TONIGHT AND
STREET CAR AND AUTO TRAFFIC
HALTS AT 7 O'CLOCK.MOVIE THEATERS AND OTHER PUBLIC PLACES WILL BE CLOSED BY ORDER

Action Is Taken Following Conference of Military and Civil Officers Who Discussed Proposed Order For Martial Law—Police Fear Negroes Have Army Rifles.

Springfield, March 12.—Sheriff David Jones of Clark county, was placed in complete charge of the situation here growing out of racial disorders which culminated in the shooting of a patrolman and a negro last night, at a conference of military and civil officials here today. An order was immediately issued forbidding all public gatherings after 6 o'clock this evening and ordering stoppage of street car service and automobile traffic after 7 p. m.

The order means cessation of all traffic on the streets and closing of all moving picture houses, theaters and other places for public gathering.

Although after a short meeting at the City Hall the conferees went to the office of Prosecuting Attorney John B. McGrew, the prosecutor denied any connection with the conferees. He said the men merely came to his office to use a telephone.

Mayor B. J. Westcott announced that it was the opinion of the conferees, that the situation could be handled by the sheriff and he was placed in charge in preference to putting the city under military or martial law.

Three companies of Ohio guardsmen—two Springfield units and one from London—helped quell last night's disturbances.

Arrival of the Columbus and Athens companies will bring the total number of troops here to 550, a number which military officials regard as sufficient for any emergency. Colonel Robert Hurlbaugh of Fourth Ohio took formal command of the guardsmen shortly before noon.

The remainder of the Fourth, mobilized in their home cities last night will remain in readiness for entrainment orders, it was announced at military headquarters at the City Hall.

Officials indicated, increasing apprehension over possibility of the situation. Business and professional men and others familiar with racial conditions here, although expressing hope that presence of guardsmen would have a deterrent and influence upon the trouble makers, said they did not believe they were prepared for further trouble.

Many negroes disclaim any feeling in the matter, declaring that the trouble has been precipitated by "drifters" negroes who have come here from other parts of the country in by the negro population in general.

Police say they have information that many of the negroes are armed with Springfield rifles, which they purchased several years ago, following previous race riots when the Government placed a large number of the firearms on the market.

Marge Ferneau, 11 years old, whose mistreatment at the hands of an unknown negro last night brought on present bad feeling between whites and blacks, was reported at noon as being in "fairly good" condition. Hospital authorities would neither confirm nor deny a rumor that her condition was unfavorable. Her assailant has never been apprehended.

Joseph Ryan, patrolman, who received three bullet wounds from one of a party of negroes when he attempted to disperse last night was reported as improving at a local hospital where he was taken following the shooting. Shirley Shafer the wounded negro, received only a scalp wound.

Possibility of a third person's having been wounded in last night's fighting was indicated today when police announced that a trail of blood led from the scene of the final encounter last night in which at least 20 shots are said to have been fired. The trail was followed from the street to an old building where it was lost. No further casualties have been reported to officials.

There was a change of plans for the conference called for this morning at the City hall between military and city authorities. Adjutant General Florence after a brief meeting at the City hall with City Manager Parsons, before Mayor Westcott and Police Chief O'Brien arrived left the office and later Mayor Westcott, City Manager Parsons and Sheriff David Jones also departed to confer with Attorney John B. McGrew at his office.

McGrew is a former prosecuting attorney of the county and was in charge of the prosecutor's office during the former riots in Springfield.

Adjutant General Florence and the city officials were said to have under consideration the making of a formal request that the city be placed under martial law tonight. Plans for a thorough investigation of the disorder are said to have been considered.

Chief of Police O'Brien did not attend this conference. The chief expressed the belief that the situation was under control and said he did not look for any more trouble. He said he was badly handicapped by lack of policemen. There are only 88 men on the local police force. The force was reduced by 12 men when the city manager plan of government became effective in Springfield. The police today under orders of City Manager Parsons were still enforcing the order to keep all pool rooms and soft drink places closed. Many of these places opened up this morning under the impression that the order had been lifted but were given instructions by police to close up. Other business houses remained open.

NEGRO ADMITS
HE SHOT COP

Farmer Posse Captures Fugitive After Gun Battle and Turns Him Over to Authorities.

Springfield, March 12.—James White, a young negro captured shortly before noon by a posse of farmers several miles north of Springfield, after a running battle, confessed to police that he was guilty of the shooting of Patrolman Ryan in last night's racial disorders. They announced this afternoon. White was brought to this city and lodged in the county jail which is strongly guarded by a cord of national guardsmen.

Farmers north of Springfield organized a posse to capture him this morning when he was seen to run from a farmer on the road. When rounded up by the posse on the Thomas Wrenn farm, he fired several shots at his pursuers and was fired on in return before he surrendered. No one was injured.

Police after announcing the confession said they had previous definite knowledge that White was the man who had shot Ryan. On his person when he was captured was found a .22 calibre automatic pistol with which Ryan is said to have been shot.

After being captured by the posse White was turned over to Deputy Sheriff Walter Lewis and City Patrolman Wunderly who brought him to the city.

It was brought out in this meeting that the price of material had been reduced from 10 to 50 per cent. The steel market was reported at 20 to 40 per cent. The sheet metal men 10 to 30 per cent.

NATIONS TO MEET TO BAN TROUBLES TRANSPORTATION

Delegates to Gather at Barcelona This Week to Discuss Problems.

ENVOYS WILL HAVE POWER TO MAKE AGREEMENTS AMONG THEMSELVES

London.—The chief task of the international conference of communications and transit, which will be held at Barcelona, Spain, on March 10, will be to draw up a series of international conventions intended to eliminate some of the difficulties and restrictions which now hamper international transportation of passengers and freight.

One situation which the conference will have particularly to deal is the transit of freight and passengers between two countries across a third one. This affords an opportunity for the middle country, through which the traffic has to pass, to collect a heavy toll on such traffic.

The conference will not be restricted to discussion and advice, but will be composed of officially appointed delegates of various nations and will be equipped with considerable power of initiative within its own sphere.

Fairfield Was One of the Original Subdivisions, All Being Established Before State Was Admitted To Union.

Columbus.—The state of Ohio originally was divided into ten counties, established in territorial days by the governor of the territory, according to state history which shows that the original counties in the order of their establishment were:

Washington, July 27, 1788: Hamilton, July 2, 1790; Wayne, August 15, 1790; Adams, July 10, 1797; Jefferson, July 27, 1797; Ross, August 20, 1798; Trumbull, July 10, 1800; Clermont, December 9, 1800; Fairfield, December 9, 1800, and Belmont, September 7, 1801.

All of these counties were located within the boundaries of the present state of Ohio, with the exception of Wayne which lay partly northwest and west of these boundaries. When Ohio was admitted to the Union, Wayne county in this state lapsed, and the present county of Wayne later established. Wayne county in Michigan, of which Detroit is the county seat, is the successor of the old territorial county of Wayne in that state.

Strong opposition developed to the removal but the introduction of a provision of patients, asking removal, by Representative Flood before the house of representatives won for the legion.

An Appreciation ONE of our many out of town guests left the following note lying on the table as he left our restaurant: "Thanks for the splendid service, good things to eat, the minimum charge." Give us an Opportunity to prove this gentleman's good judgment. Kuster's Serveself YOU GET BOTH KINDS OF SERVICE WITH AN AVERY There are only two kinds of service. The service you get when you are using your machine and the service you get when you need some little assistance in the way of a repair part or two. And you get both when you have an Avery. First they do good work and last a long time. But second if you do need any help we are always ready to aid you promptly. We keep a stock of Avery Tractor and Thresher parts on hand at all times. You can depend on us—you won't be held up during your rush season waiting on some little part, should you need one. As one Avery owner said, "My Avery doesn't need many repairs, but when I do need them, I can get them mighty quick." And he is right too. If we haven't got just what he wants, there is an Avery Branch House right close to fall back on, and they are right on the job too all the time. Think this over when you consider the purchase of a tractor or thresher. You might as well have no tractor at all as to have one that you can't depend on. Come in and let us explain the Avery Tractors to you. Built in eight sizes—a size for every size farm. From 5-10 H. P. to 45-65 H. P. Or ask us for a catalog. ## Amusements

BIG SUNDAY PROGRAM

AT AUDITORIUM SUNDAY.
Manager Fenberg has arranged for Sunday amusement seekers, one of the best double feature programs so far shown at his Auditorium. Those two clever children Jane and Katherine Lee are seen in the two reel comedy "The Dixie Madcaps." They sure will make you laugh. Then there will be a News Weekly, with its latest world events and the big feature, the Universal Special attraction "If Only Jim" in which Harry Carey is the star.

SENSATIONAL COMEDY

A GREAT REVELATION
Something new under the sun is to be revealed at the Auditorium theater when that very important planet is seen rising over the hills that look down on the farm in Mack Bennett's latest triumph, "Down on the Farm." This five-reel comedy sensation, released by United Artists, will be seen for the first time in this community for the last time tonight.

"Down on the Farm" presents Louise Fazenda, Marie Prevost and Ben Turpin in the leading roles, with James Findlayson, Harry Gibson, Bert Roach, were made by the committee on Public Information and because of the censorship they could not be shown during the war but are now released to the public. The photographers who went with the troupe were exposed to dangers so the people who were compelled to stay at home may see that modern battle really was. One of the most interesting scenes shows destruction of an American observation balloon by a German plane in the cockpit of the observer in his parachute and the capture of a German pilot when his plane was brought down. You will also see Eddie Richenbacher the Columbus aviator being decorated and a trip with him above the clouds and other interesting car scenes. The profits for the showing go to the New York Post of the American Legion.

"LINGER LONGER LETTY"
Charlotte Greenwood, the famous comedienne, will open an engagement at the Auditorium theatre next Friday night in Oliver Morosco's latest musical comedy success, "Linger Longer Letty." Miss Greenwood's phenomenal success in "So Long Letty" is chiefly re-spensible for this new musical comedy, which in a sense, is the sequel to the piece in which the lank and lumber comedienne became a national favorite. The book of "Linger Longer Letty" is by Anne Nichols, who has written a number of successful farces; the lyrics are by Bernard Grossman and the music is the work of Alfred Goodman. All that Mr. Morosco insisted upon was that this show should be up to the minute as regards comedy, songs and dances. The verdict was that his orders had been carried out to the last letter, all Miss Greenwood has to do is to herself. Seats on sale Wednesday. Mail orders now being received.

WILLIAM RUSSELL IN "THE IRON RIDER."
William Russell in "The Iron Rider," a William Fox feature, comes to the Alhambra starting Monday. Russell will be remembered by his clever work in "The Challenge of the Law," "The Man Who Dared," and others. "The Iron Rider" is a story of the West that fits the peculiar personality of this popular young actor. He plays the part of a foreman in a lumber camp in a Western town where disorder reigns. In an effort to do away with lawlessness and to restore once more justice and peace in the community, this young man joins "The Iron Riders," a secret society which was in vogue 30 years before, and which was dedicated to the preservation of justice in the face of lawless and unprincipled men. A strong cast is seen in his support.

DUNCAN TYPICAL HERO FOR THIS CURWOOD TALE
Perhaps no other author can describe a grueling hand-to-hand fight between two strong men like James Oliver Curwood. And it is also likely that no other screen player can fight a fight of that kind as realistically and with the zest that William Duncan can. In "God's Country and the Woman" there is such a contest—a contest in which both participants revert to primitive principles and the victor is the victor. This vivid tale of the North by Curwood and made a production which stands alone in its power to enthrall and incite the interest and enthusiasm of an audience. It is to be shown at the Grand theater Sunday, one day only.

As Phil Weyman, William Duncan is compelled to resort to physical attack to save the honor of the girl he loves. His fight with George Holt as Arnold Lang, treacherous enemy of the Adams family, is one that will be long remembered by all beholders. It was, in fact, a fight that both actors, accustomed as they are to the hardships of photography production, will remember. There was no sham, no "padding" of punches. When it was completed to the director's satisfaction both men were willing to call it a day.

This great scene is but one of many of the exciting highlights in this production. There are others just as vivid.

WAR WORK COMMITTEE.

The final act of the Licking County War work committee was the publication of a pamphlet telling briefly of the origin, purpose and activities of the organization together with a summary of the auditor's report of the receipts and disbursements of the Licking County War Chest.

The pamphlet should find a place in every library in the county because it details in an accurate and interesting way the important work done by the organization during the period of the world war.

Licking county had a well organized and highly efficient committee for its war work. The organization extended into every precinct in the county and the record in every one of the several drives was "over the top."

Funds were solicited and collected in a systematic manner and the money was disbursed with care and accuracy. Every cent was perfectly accounted for.

Credit for the gratifying success of the Licking county war work belongs not only to the officers and the division and township chairman but also to all who co-operated with them in their effort.

Edwin C. Wright had the honor of leading the organization and he did it well. Those who constituted the official are:

E. C. Wright, chairman; A. R. Lindor, vice chairman; W. W. Gard, treasurer; Clifford Faye, secretary; C. G. Barber, Secretary-manager; Lester S. Newkirk, assistant secretary.

Executive council—E. C. Wright, chairman; A. R. Lindor, C. Harrington, W. Davis, John J. Carroll, Roderick Jones, W. H. Mazy, W. M. Morgan, L. K. Stage, John S. Graham, R. E. Buxton, S. A. Mears, F. R. Lloyd, J. L. Moore, John H. Meyers, John N. Colville.

Organization committee—C. Harrington, chairman; Ray Martin, H. B. Coen, Ben L. Montgomery, Rev. Don Tullis, W. W. Gard, Dan Simson, Riley Speck, Geo. H. Weaver, A. E. Willett, Lester S. Newkirk, G. G. Barber, C. P. Lender.

Division chairman—R. S. Wyeth, K. I. Dickerson, George E. Pickup, C. L. Wyeth, Carl Dayton, O. J. Barnes, George Hermann, L. M. Kriege.

Church chairman—C. J. Moore, A. E. Divan, C. C. Bicker, J. W. Bartholow, C. D. Watkins, C. D. Coons, R. B. Buxton, H. R. P. Miller, S. M. Hamilton, T. C. Jury, S. L. Dushmeier, H. S. Richards, A. ## WOMEN IN POLITICS.

Some of the women prominent in the Republican organization are said to be dissatisfied because no women were included in the "best minds" with whom President Harding consulted in shaping his initial policies. There will be many demands for the appointment of more women to public office, both in the federal and state governments.

How far should women be selected for the higher place in government and political management? Many women of a confident, energetic, and intelligent type, feel just as well able to exercise political leadership as any man. They have the same ambition to advance in this field that men have, which is perfectly legitimate.

The men will be disposed to feel, however, that women are new in this form of activity. Politics is a game that calls not merely for cleverness, but for long experience. Many women who were most active in their campaign for suffrage, had never taken any great interest in political problems. It will take a little time for them to familiarize themselves with the many questions that are novel to them.

The skillful political manager will recognize that women are not going to line up just like the men. The men can not always figure how they will react on any given proposition. The shrewd politician will want to include women leaders in his circles of advisers and will study very carefully how pending propositions are going to affect their point of view.

Many of the old time slogans of party politics, that drilled the masculine cohorts into line for many years, will have mighty little influence on the new voters. And other considerations relating to home interests and the welfare of children and efficiency of education, which have been considered merely secondary an disoriental by old line politicians, are going to weigh heavily with these women. Some politicians do not yet realize this truth.

THE AUTOMOBILE SPEEDER.

All over the country police forces are getting after automobile speeders. Yet the speeding keeps infecting more men. More than 40,000 people are arraigned in the traffic court of New York city for this offense last year. Wherever a sincere effort is made to enforce automobile regulations similar reports come in.

The speed mania affects many people who usually are courteous and considerate. Many of them have no eye for distance and have on conception of their rate of speed. The figures on their whirling speedometers mean nothing to them.

Fining never will stop these fellows, so far as experience in Ohio goes to show. Forbid them from driving cars on the streets for a long period, and they will reflect on the unpopularity of their course.

When you get together with your rivals to obtain higher prices for your own products, that's co-operation. When the makers of other stuff get together to secure higher prices for their output, why that's a trust and it must be busted.

The statement at Washington will not be able to satisfy the existing unrest, but the opening of the baseball ball season will help out a lot toward that end.

Formerly it was said of a pretty girl that she was "statuesque," but now some of 'em look more like an oil painting.

The office seekers should give Mr. Harding a little time to himself until he gets the White House carpets tacked down.

While some of the farmers are cursing the mistakes of the government, their machinery is frequently standing out in the weather getting all rusted up.

Readers' Viewpoint

More About Clocks.
Editor the Advocate:—Will you kindly allow space in your paper for the following with reference to the so-called daylight saving joke perpetrated on the residents of Licking county last year by the city council of Newark at the behest of a handful of golf-enthusiasts and baseball fans. Under present conditions, a farmer can do half a day's work, drive to Newark from almost any point in the county and transact business with the banks and other offices. That is impossible and banks, closing at 1:30 central time. Will the present local of county commissioners show that they represent the residents of Licking county by whom they were elected by refusing to change the time of the court house clock by which the business of the county is regulated, or will they cater to the childish caprices of a few pleasure seekers to the inconvenience and detriment of at least ninety per cent of the population of Licking county? If there are those who wish to enjoy long evenings of auto riding or other pleasures, let them arrange their business hours to suit themselves but do not try to force others to adopt their system by meddling with the time. I should like to have the views of others on this subject. Respectfully,
J. A. BARTON.

LIV.—Twilight Visions.

Stanley had been right in his prophecy—the little man who was responsible for the motor accident had vanished, and with him had gone all evidence which might have led to identification of the battered machine on its side in the ditch.

"We'll have to wait until the girl recovers sufficiently to talk before we know who the rascal is," said Desmond, when he returned from the scene with out the arch culprit.

"I'll wager she never tells," declared Stanley. "She's probably as keen as he to keep the matter of her little Sunday excursion hushed up."

Nancy left the two men discussing the accident, and wandered restlessly down the broad glassed-in veranda.

It had been a wretched day, starting with Stanley's appearance in the morning, continuing with Major Desmond's impetuous proposal, and culminating with the motor accident.

All of her plans for the saving of Edith's happiness had gone a-glimmering. A flirtation between Edith and Desmond was now clearly out of the question, and the serious turn affairs had taken with the presence of Flanrette in the house, would undoubtedly crush any sentimental overture from Dr. Langwell. Thus, it was impossible for Nancy to carry out her promise to Edith.

At the farther end of the veranda she stopped and leaned against the glass, looking out over the lake, faintly discernible in the twilight.

Again—as on the night before—a feeling of utter desolation enveloped her. She felt very forlorn and very unhappy.

A pale shaft of light from an upstairs window shone out across the lawn, pointing like a ghostly finger toward the lake. It came from the room where the sick lay fighting back to the consciousness which had been so cruelly blotted out while the sun rode high in the blue sky and the lake rippled under the caress of the wind.

It was all very depressing, thought Nancy—not alone the presence of the injured girl, but the other discordant forces which held the Langwell house in their grip.

There was Edith, whiter and more weary than ever, and the doctor forcing a bravado which he surely could not feel. There was Desmond silently asking the question which his lips would never frame because of the fine honorable gentleman that he was.

And there was herself, conscience-stricken, a little panicky of the morass into which Constance Stanley's practical vision of the other half of each of them was tiring, utterly weary of visiting, of being at other people's beck and call.

She shut her eyes and summoned a vision of her own pretty apartment in New York.

If she were at home, there would be gasolene burning cheerily in her drawing room, with the lights pleasantly low under their golden shades. She herself would be curled up in a corner of the davenport in a nest of cushions with Semiramis purring drowsily beside her.

Anna—not-to-be-replaced treasure, now lost to her forever—would be deftly wheeling away the tea-wagon, and Gerry—

Nancy's heart contracted at the mental vision of his broad shoulders and steady eyes—Gerry would be lighting a cigarette and saying between puffs, "Want to do a concert at the Metropolitan tonight, or would you rather read?"

If the vision hurt, Nancy opened her eyes with a jerk on the chill twilight prospect of Lake Michigan. The wind sighed fitfully through the bare branches of the trees and she could hear the merry murmur of the water at the foot of the lawn.

"I suppose," she thought resentfully, "that Peggy Lewis is having Sunday tea in my apartment with her former in-laws, and that the Harding offspring is carrying poor Semiramis around by

Al Jolson, the most popular entertainer on the American stage today, judging by the acid test of the boxoffice, will begin a return engagement at the Hartman theatre, Columbus, Monday night, March 14. There is to be a matinee on Wednesday. Judging by the advance sale this return visit of the eminent comedian will be marked by capacity houses. The production, which

"Sinbad" is a mammoth musical extravaganza, full of girls and gorgeous colors of the orient. It is, by unanimous consent, the best of the 24 shows thus far produced at the Winter Garden. It has a logical story conveyed in 20 swiftly moving scenes of sumptuous beauty and color, and with a cast that outshines any heretofore selected for Winter Garden productions.

The "Century Midnight Whirl" comes to the Hartman March 17, to remain throughout the latter half of the week. It brings to the Hartman a cast of superlative excellence, among others Richard Carle, Blanche Ring, Charles Winniger, Winona Winter, and Jay Gould. There is a host of delicious comedy scenes in which these clever stars appear, to which is added catchy music, alluring dancing and many specialties. It is a real "roof" show, filled with girls, glee and gladness. There is to be a matinee on Saturday. Mail orders now.

The Art of Keeping a Dependent on $200 a Year

To the Editor of the Advocate:
The idea of a man at hand, which the soothsayer once told me to be aware of them on acct. of it being the date when you had to give the infernal revenue collector the 1st hundred thousand and pretty nearly every place I been lately people was disquating their income tax though as near dependants make out nobody enjoyed the conversation, but the worst crabs of all is the fathers of a family that seems to think the govt. hasn't gave them a square deal in regards to personal exemption for same.

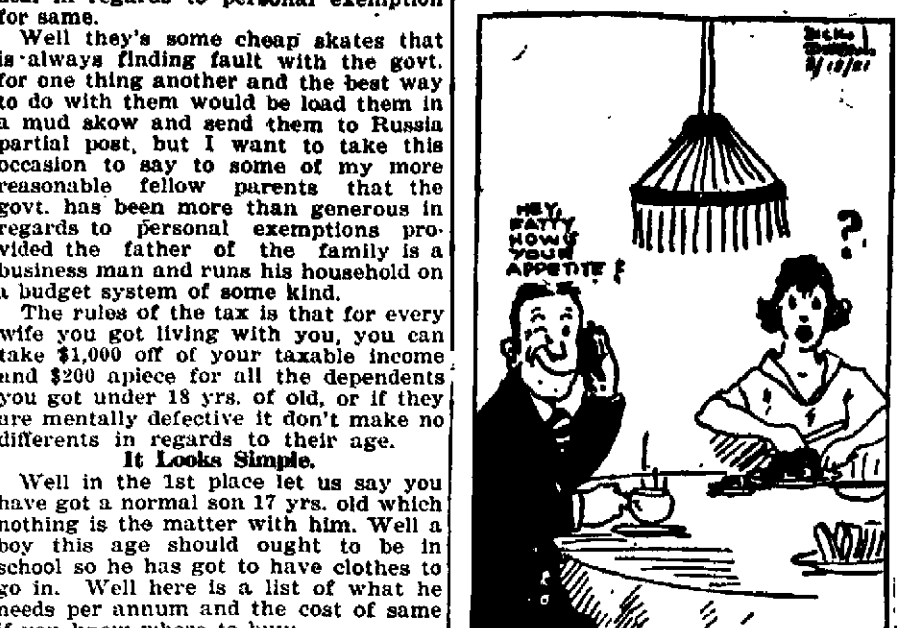

Well they's some cheap skates that is always finding fault with the govt. for one thing another and the best way to do with them would be load them in a mule skow and send them to Russia partial post, but I want to take this occasion to say to some of my more reasonable fellow parents that the govt. has been more than generous in regards to personal exemptions provided the father of the family is a business man and runs his household on a budget system of some kind.

The rules of the tax is that for every wife you got living with you, you can take $1,000 of your taxable income and $200 apiece for all the dependants you got under 18 yrs. of old, or if they are mentally defective it don't make no differences in regards to their age.

It Looks Simple.
Well in the 1st place let us say you have got a normal son 17 yrs. old which nothing is the matter with him. Well a boy this age should ought to be in school so he has got to have clothes to go in. Well here is a list of what he needs per annum and the cost of same if you know where to buy:

1 pr. shoes ..... $10.00
1 suit clothes ..... 25.00
1 overcoat ..... 25.00
1 pr. socks ..... .50
1 suit underwear ..... 1.50
1 hat ..... 2.00
1 shirt ..... 2.50
1 tie ..... .50
1 collar ..... .25
1 nightgown ..... 1.50

Total ..... $68.75
Add $10.00 per annum for school books and you have got a total of $78.75 which you subtract away from $200 and it leaves $121.25 per annum to feed him with, or about $.33 per day which is more than ample as a boy that age ain't generally very hungry. Still and all it's the custom to give them keep her in tobacco of all kinds and the wise father will bring her home any 2d. hand cigarettes and etc. he picks up during the day.

Every once in a while call her fatty in a joking way.

Of course if the dependent is mentally defective you won't need no $200 or nowheres near such an amt. to keep him going. Take a old piece of leather and cup it up into different shapes to make it look like different kinds of meat.

Then when you serve one of the pieces to him at a meal, say, "This mutton ain't done tonight," or, "This steak is tough."

5 different pieces of leather will last him a yr. and he will think they's plenty

THE ART OF KEEPING A DEPENDENT ON $200 A YEAR

To the Editor of the Advocate:
The idea of a man at hand, which the soothsayer once told me to be aware of them on acct. of it being the date when you had to give the infernal revenue collector the 1st hundred thousand and pretty nearly every place I been lately people was disquating their income tax though as near dependants make out nobody enjoyed the conversation, but the worst crabs of all is the fathers of a family that seems to think the govt. hasn't gave them a square deal in regards to personal exemption for same.

Well they's some cheap skates that is always finding fault with the govt. for one thing another and the best way to do with them would be load them in a mule skow and send them to Russia partial post, but I want to take this occasion to say to some of my more reasonable fellow parents that the govt. has been more than generous in regards to personal exemptions provided the father of the family is a business man and runs his household on a budget system of some kind.

The rules of the tax is that for every wife you got living with you, you can take $1,000 of your taxable income and $200 apiece for all the dependants you got under 18 yrs. of old, or if they are mentally defective it don't make no differences in regards to their age.

It Looks Simple.
Well in the 1st place let us say you have got a normal son 17 yrs. old which nothing is the matter with him. Well a boy this age should ought to be in school so he has got to have clothes to go in. Well here is a list of what he needs per annum and the cost of same if you know where to buy:

1 pr. shoes ..... $10.00
1 suit clothes ..... 25.00
1 overcoat ..... 25.00
1 pr. socks ..... .50
1 suit underwear ..... 1.50
1 hat ..... 2.00
1 shirt ..... 2.50
1 tie ..... .50
1 collar ..... .25
1 nightgown ..... 1.50

Total ..... $68.75
Add $10.00 per annum for school books and you have got a total of $78.75 which you subtract away from $200 and it leaves $121.25 per annum to feed him with, or about $.33 per day which is more than ample as a boy that age ain't generally very hungry. Still and all it's the custom to give them

It is reported that Chinese property deeds or leases often have 100 signatures. The reason is that land is often owned by syndicates and agreements must be signed by every member of an organization.

HAVE YOU TAKEN YOUR SNOW BATH YET? IT'S GOOD FOR THE COMPLEXION, THEY SAY

Vera and Catherine Phaesa taking their daily snow bath.

These are two of New York's most beautiful "polar bears" who swim daily, rain, hail, snow or sunshine. Their names are Vera and Catherine Phaesa, and they assured the camera man that these daily swims, particularly on snowy days, were good for the complexion. The camera man in turn shivered in his heavy coat as he watched the two beauties carting about through the deep snow left by the big storm in New York.

Milady's Boudoir

Systematic Women.

Many women look upon systematic exercise as a waste of time and others say that her housework gives her all the exercise she needs. If the housework has an object aside from the mere finishing of the job, it is surely doing good as an exercise, but if it is considered as work, and work only, then it does no good.

The mental attitude of most housewives is that housework is work, whereas the woman who is exercising has an object in the improving of her health and beauty. There is a mental side to the subject of exercise as well as a physical. The motive which we have in our minds is the which effects us most physically.

If you are systematic you will map out the housework for the day, no matter what it may be, so that you will go through with it without thinking what there is to do next, when you have finished one task in this planning do not fail to include the constitutional, or the exercise hour. If you value your good health, your temper and your beauty, take regular indoor exercise as well as outdoor.

Perhaps you cannot use a gymnasium but you can easily rig up a few ropes and, maybe, add a dumb bell or two and a broomstick to the exercising paraphernalia. Do not overdo in exercising so that you will become exhausted instead of invigorated, and do not forget that your household duties will act as exercise for health and beauty if you only look at it in the right way.

Our Boys and Girls

Never violently brush or comb a child's hair. They are often tortured and rendered adverse to having their hair cleansed by such treatment. Never plaster down a child's hair with pomade or grease of any kind. Such things prevent the elimination of natural excretions. They store up dandruff and cause the scalp to itch.

If your little daughter's hair is unruly, especially after a shampoo, make a mixture of equal part of glycerine, rose water and bay rum. Then pour a few drops into your hand and, taking the hair strand by strand, stroke it gently. Two or three drops will be plenty for each strand of hair. The little snarly ends will become smooth and the hair will not be greasy.

In selecting a brush let it be one with long, uneven, moderately stiff bristles. Never use a wire brush. The comb should be of hard rubber, with teeth well shaped and rounded at the sides so as to prevent sharp cutting edges. The teeth should be uniform, not a comb half fine and half coarse.

Each United States senator is chosen for a term of six years, unless he is appointed to fill the unexpired term of a member who has died or resigned. Members of the house of representatives are elected for a two-year term, every two years and there are no "holdover" members.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusts did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no last rites, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 812 1/2 Marcellus Avenue, Mansfield, N. J., better set out this notice and show it to many others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

LECTURE No. 69 The Purpose and Principle of the Transmission

When the designer of an automobile has to decide upon the size of the engine he must consider what the engine must do. Let us briefly look into this.

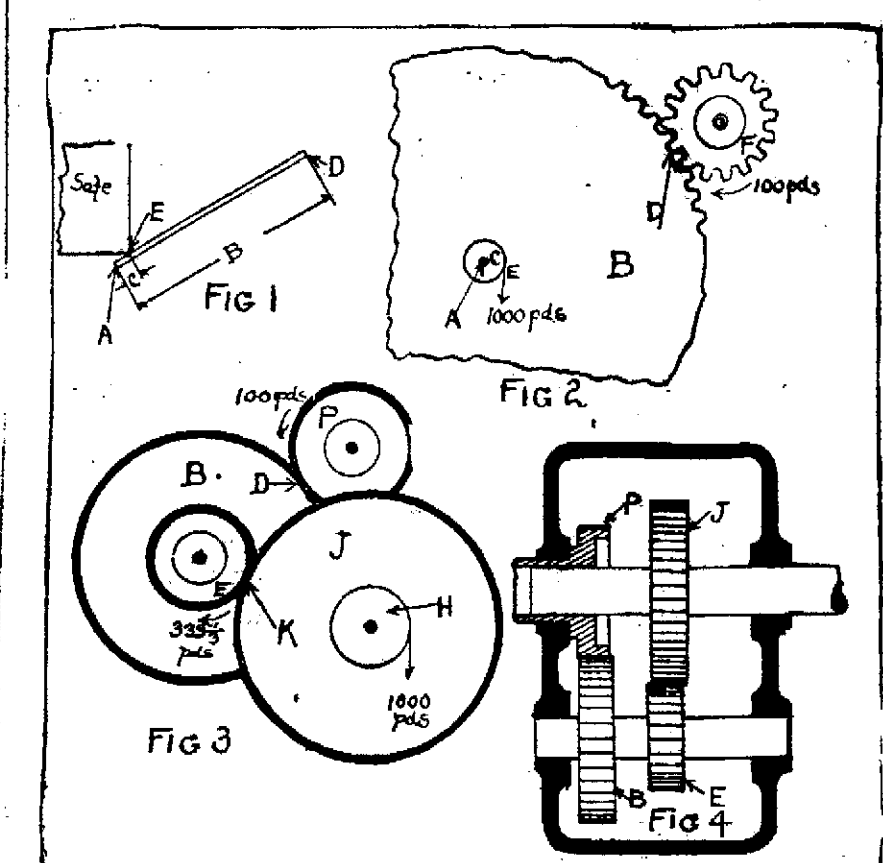

When the car is driven along a level road, the engine must overcome the friction of the bearings in the car, and the resistance of the wind. For this purpose an engine of a certain bore and turning power and which will give a certain minimum speed will suit.

When the car is ascending a hill, the start it moving, but as soon as it is in motion, one man will let go, and when the car has some speed the second man will let go and the third will be able to keep the car in motion with comparatively little effort. This a more powerful engine will be necessary for starting the car, than for keeping it going.

So we find that a much greater turning power is required from the engine, when the car is climbing a hill, or when it is being started into motion.

The car must be able to ascend hills and start into motion, but 90 per cent of the time it is traveling on the level.

engine will have to overcome the friction and wind resistance as before, but also, it will have to lift the car from the lower to the higher level. So an engine of much larger turning power and, therefore, bore, will be necessary than for running on the level.

Have you ever watched men pushing an auto, or wagon, about? It may require the full strength of three men to

This means that if the engine is built large enough to climb the hills, for 90 per cent of the time, an excess weight of engine will have to be carried, with the extra cost of fuel, etc., which would result therefrom.

A good designer will try to find some way of using the smaller engine, and adding some device which will enable the engine to also taking care of the hill climbing and starting into motion. Placing a set of levers between the engine and the rear wheels will accomplish this. As a system, or train of gears, is a system of levers, the problem will be solved by placing sets of gears between the engine and the rear wheels, or, in other words, having the power of the engine transmitted to the rear wheels by them. Thus we have the Transmission.

Let us see how the gears act as levers. Have you ever watched safe-movers move a heavy safe by the use of a crowbar. What they do is shown in Fig. 1. Here the point A is the ground. If the distance B is ten times as great as the distance C, a man, by exerting a pressure of 100 pounds at D, can exert a pressure of 1,000 pounds at E.

Let us now assume that A is the center and E the circumference of the propeller shaft of the automobile, and that D is on the circumference of a gear B fastened to this shaft, as shown in Fig. 2. If it takes a pressure of 1,000 pounds on the circumference of the shaft at E to drive the car up the steepest grade, then by driving the gear B, by the gear F, and making the engine of such a size, that a pressure of 100 pounds is exerted by the gear F on the gear B, the car will be driven up this steepest grade.

The room for the transmission of the automobile is necessarily limited, and if the single gear, as shown, were used it would take up more room than can be allowed for it. So the designer must look about for some way of using gears which will take up less room, and yet give the required leverage. The natural solution is to have sets of gears, one set, say, to give a leverage of 3, the other of 3 1/3, giving a total leverage of 3 1/3 times 3, or 10.

Let us, therefore, make the gear B smaller in diameter, say only 3 1/3 times that the shaft E, and then let us convert E into a gear, then let us move the shaft connected to the propeller shaft to the position shown in Fig. 3. By now placing a gear, J, having a diameter 3 times that of the shaft H, and driving this gear by the gear E, we will have two sets of small gears, one giving a leverage of 3 to 1, and the other 3 1/3 to 1, or a total of 10.

Thus if 1,000 pounds is required at the circumference of H, only 333 1/3 pounds will be required at K, the circumference of the gear J, and as the gear B is 3 1/3 times the diameter of the gear E, it will have a leverage of 2 2/3 to 1, and only 100 pounds will be required at the point D, which is the pressure required from the engine as before.

Having the gears placed as shown means three shafts and three sets of bearings for them. By placing the gears H and P on the same center, one set of these bearings and considerable room can be saved. In Fig. 4, I have shown a view from the top of the transmission as developed so far, with the gears J and P on the same center.

As the gears B and E are on the same center and revolve at the same speed they are both fastened to the same shaft. J and P, however, revolve at different speeds, and so their shaft must be separate. In order to save a bearing bracket, however, the gear P is made hollow and is attached to a tube, or sleeve, the end of the shaft of J being inserted into it so that the bearing of P also acts as one of the bearings of J. This is shown by cutting away some of the gear P.

PAINS IN SIDE AND BACK

Caused by Woman's Ills and Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Grafton, Pa.—"I was troubled with inflammation and pains in my sides and back. After doctoring with different doctors and not getting relief, I had almost given up hopes when my sister told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and knowing that she had really been helped by it, I purchased it. I was unable to do my work at that time, but after taking several bottles of the Vegetable Compound I can now do anything about the house or farm that a woman should do. I have a four months old baby for his age that I have ever seen. I am willing for my letter to be used for a testimonial to tell other suffering women how much your medicine has done for me, as I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all the praise."—Mrs. BLAIR L. FISHER, R.D. 1, Box 37, Grafton, Pa.

Working early and late—lifting, carrying, and the heaviest of household duties—is it any wonder that it results in backaches and kindred ills. But every woman who suffers as Mrs. Fisher did should profit by her experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

The Advocate will issue its Spring Fashion Edition next Tuesday, March 15. This number will contain articles by noted writers on the latest styles and advertisements from local merchants. Be sure to get a copy, learn what to buy and where to buy.
